"Antiquities are history defaced, or remnants that have escaped the shipwreck of time, . . . wrecks of history wherein the memory of things is almost lost; or such particulars as industrious persons, with exact and scrupulous diligence can anyway collect from genealogies, calendars, titles, inscriptions, monuments, coins, names, etymologies, proverbs, traditions, archives, instruments, fragments of private and public history, scattered passages of books no way historical, &c., by which means something is recovered from the deluge of time . . . In this imperfect history no deficiency need be noted, it being of its own nature imperfect."

[Letter endorsed "Mr John Buckenham, p'sent in

I haueinge at yo<sup>r</sup> comeinge into Suff to take an accompt of such as boare cote armes, or ptended righte thervnto, I beinge at Beccles in Suff, entered clayme to such Coate as belonge & the Bokenhams in Suff bare, w<sup>ch</sup> I was incited vnto, for that I hadd seuerall Comissions frō the righte hoble Earle of Arundell & the Lord Matrauers & seuerall other lord Leiueteints for y<sup>e</sup> Countie of Norff to me directed, to be a Leiueteint to horses or foot eu<sup>er</sup> since the first scotts warre vnto this day, w<sup>ch</sup> I haue faithefully pformed for the Kinge & Cūntry, in w<sup>ch</sup> in some comissions my name was wrot Bokenham, but of late I haueinge better inquired finde y<sup>t</sup> my aunctresters for many years last past before thēr deathes wrot thēr names Buckenham & soe haue I done for that tyme I haue liued & therefore verily belēue I haue noe right to the coate armes I entered my clayme to. And doe hereby disclayme and acquit the said clayme by me formerly made, & intreate it may be fased out of the booke it's entered into, or this my disclayme thervnto be entered vnder it, for I hate to doe any wronge to any family. I humbly craue y<sup>t</sup> this may giue satisfactiō for my error or mistake; for I neuer yet made vse of any coate armes.

S<sup>r</sup>, Before my voyage into France, I remember I gave you the trouble of inquiring into my Father's Coat of Arms, but as I understand since my arrivall into England (by my Father's letter) the affaire is not yet determined. I know very well, S<sup>r</sup>, y<sup>t</sup> my Father has been often told by Esq<sup>r</sup> Hunt of Sharinton in Norfolk (who married a Briggs, and had the greatest part of his Estate from the name) that there was none of the Family left, y<sup>t</sup> he knew, but my Father. His Lady gave the 3 Owles Sable, and was pleas'd to own the alliance between us, w<sup>ch</sup> my Father never (till now) thought of ascertaining to himselfe. I imagine S<sup>r</sup>, however, y<sup>t</sup> our Coat is rather the Barra gemels, not only because our name is exactly spelt like S<sup>r</sup> Humphry Briggs's in Shropshire, but also because in probability (there being no more then my Father's house of y<sup>t</sup> name left in Norfolk) we are a branch of y<sup>t</sup> family transplanted into Norfolk. My great-grandfather, as is well known, had a very good Estate, w<sup>ch</sup> afterwards was lessened by too much obliging the world, and forasmuch as can be found (or at least to our knowledge as yet) he was the bringer in of the name and Estate into Norfolk. His name was Thomas Briggs, my great-grandmother's Amye, my grandfather (who was born at Banningham, neare Alesham, in Norfolk) was nam'd Richard. As for the 3 Owles Sable (if I mistake not) they belong to the name of Brigge, and not to our name as we spell it. It would be a great satisfaction to us y<sup>t</sup> w<sup>e</sup> the children, to be assured of this affaire, and to retrieve y<sup>t</sup> right, w<sup>ch</sup> my grandfather neglected unhappily (after he saw the Estate was sold).

My Father acknowledges himselfe, S<sup>r</sup>, infinitely obliged to you for the paines you have been pleas'd to take in this business, and was to wait upon you when he was here to thank you in person. If this affaire succeeds, S<sup>r</sup>, he will make his acknowledgement appeare in another manner; and amongst the rest of our Family none will think himselfe more engag'd to you, S<sup>r</sup>, then

Your most humble and obedient servant,

London,

Octob 1st, 1672.

Wilt: Briggs.

Be pleas'd to give your Answer to the bearer of this Letter, my Brother, who will waite upon you to take it, when your more urgent occasions will permit.

[At the Visitation of Norfolk in 1664, Augustine Briggs of Norwich, Alderman, was allowed a shield with two bars gemelles and a canton; and Edmund Brigg of Bradfeld, Argent, three owls Sable, beaked and legged Or.]

"XENODOCHION": THE STRANGERS' HALL AT NORWICH (vol. vii., pp. 305-307, etc.; vol. xii., pp. 245, 384).—It is interesting to observe the occurrence of the word "Xenodoxium" in the Roman Ordines (ritual directions for different church ceremonies), a MS., (copied from the original) of the ninth century.* The Latin is somewhat slipshod, and the text, here and there, is manifestly corrupt. It is also remarkable for a number of words of extraneous growth, an instance of which may be seen in the word "Xenodoxium." The passage reads as follows:—"Primitus enim pauperes de xenodoxio, cum cruce lignea picta, clamando Kyrie eleison, deinde Christe eleison, inde Christe audi nos, deinde Sancta Maria ora pro nobis, et ceteros." The word "Xenodoxium" would seem here to be applied to the poor folk (almspeople) dwelling together in what may be described as the Church Almshouse, such as we may conceive the Strangers' Hall at Norwich to have been in regard to the Dutch congregation there.

NOTES ON THE PARISH OF FRECKENHAM, Co. SUFFOLK.

No. VI.

And the Bishop declareth that the said William of the Dead Sea was a bastard, and held the said tenements of the said Bishop and his Church of Rochester for the service of two marks per annum, that a certain William died so seized with heirs of his body, after whose death he entered upon these tenements in escheat, and was then seized of them as freehold, until the said Robert and others did unjustly, etc., etc., etc., disseize him, and he asks that this shall be inquired into by the assize and others in like manner. Therefore the assize is held, etc., etc., etc., etc. Sworn witnesses declare upon oath that the said William of the Dead Sea was a bastard, that he held the tenements aforesaid under the said service, that indeed the tenements were held by the predecessors of the said Bishop as of the Church of Rochester, now forty years gone and more. That the same William being laid up with a grave disease nevertheless living in good memory in his house at Frekenham, occupying the said tenements from the said Bishop out of escheat (?), and wishing to prefer the said Alice, then his wife, he made to the said Robert and Robert on the Monday next, after the feast of St. Mathias the Apostle, in the thirty-second year of the reign of our Lord the King, at twelve of the clock at noon, the aforesaid charter (deed), and freed to them the seisin of the said house and its appurtenances in such form that the same Robert and Robert, after forty days passed from the time of his seisin (?), should have given these tenements with their appurtenances to the said Alice to be held by her so long as she should live, and after the death of the said Alice, the same tenements should have gone in remainder for ever to a certain Edmund de Humegrave and his heirs, and he further declares that the same William placed in a cart together with the said Alice, reached the house of the said Robert Overee, his brother in the same "vill.," and that there that same night, six hours after sunset, he died, leaving no heirs of his body ; and they say that the said Robert and Robert, whilst the said William was alive, did cut osiers growing in the said messuage to the value of one penny. Further than this that they took the fealty of the servants dwelling on the messuage, or removed them, or took other seisin in the said messuage, or worked on the said lands in some way, although they could have taken possession of these lands while he was living (??) ; and they say that on the Tuesday following the death of the said William, a certain Thomas de Kyngesmelle, bailiff of the same Bishop and in the name of the said Bishop, and held the aforementioned seisin in behalf of his Lord, and delayed matters (parleyed with) the said Robert and Robert until the Friday next following, on which day a certain Thomas Moese and Peter, the parson of the Church of Tuddenham, vi et armis, at the instance of the said Robert and Robert did eject the said bailiff from the said tenements, and afterwards the said Robert de S. Quentin gave wholly the said tenements to the said Alice, to be held so long as she should live, and gave her seisin thereof ; and they say that the said William granted his chattels aforesaid to the said Robert and Robert, so also that these same Robert and Robert gave the whole of the chattels for the soul of the said William ; and they say that the said writing done concerning the said chattels was never read or heard. And inasmuch as it was incontestably proven by the said assize that the said William was a bastard, that it was not of his own free will or suggestion that the said tenements remained to the said Robert and Robert, according to the form of the said deed, but that they themselves gave the said tenements to his wife to the capital injury of his feudal Lord, nor did the said Robert and Robert have perfect seisin in the life of the said William ; but the servants of the said William, and the goods and chattels of the same, always remained in the same messuage, his change (of residence) notwithstanding, by which the same William never put himself out of seisin of the said tenements, but that he always held his seisin of the same tenements and so died, therefore being seized of them without heirs of his body, as soon as the said seisin was freed, and that the said bailiff in the name of the said Bishop entered upon the said tenements, as in escheat to his Lord, and then occupied until the said Thomas and Peter, on behalf of the said Robert and Robert, did eject the said bailiff and disseize the said Bishop. It is therefore held that the said Bishop shall recover his seisin against them in the judgment of the Jurators (?), and the same Robert and Robert* in misericordia,† and likewise the said Bishop in misericordia, for his false claim against the said John and Alice, etc., etc., etc.—E. Regist. Temp. Ep. Roff.

GRANT OF LANDS IN FRANKENHAM.

To all to whom these presents shall come, John Modyne, called le Reve of Frankenham, greeting in the Lord. Know ye that I have given, granted, and surrendered, and for ever quitted, my claim to the venerable father in Christ, brother Thomas, by the grace of God, Bishop of Rochester, to all rights and claims which I had or in any manner could have to these lands and tenements with their appurtenances, which I held in the "Vill." of Frankenham, on lease from (?) Thomas, perpetual Vicar of the same "Vill.," and I wish and grant on my own behalf and that of my heirs, and assigns that the said venerable father, brother Thomas, Bishop of the Church of Rochester, and his successors in the said Church may have and hold the said tenements with their appurtenances, without let or hinderance from myself, my heirs, and my assigns, in testimony of which I have affixed my seal to this writing.

Witnesses—John de Sanstone, William Brutyn, Robert Overe, Adam Overe, Henry Oldecom, Henry de Willingham, and others. Given at Frankenham, on the third day of April, in the fifth year of the reign of King Edward, the son of King Edward.—Regist. Temporal. Eccles. et Episcop. Roff., fols. 20b, 41a.

CONVENTION BETWEEN RICHARD, BISHOP OF ROCHESTER, AND HENRY, ABBOT OF ST. EDMUND'S, CONCERNING A MARKET IN THE VILL OF FRANKENHAM.

It is to be remembered in the matter of the convention made between the venerable father, Lord Richard, sometimes Bishop of Rochester, and the Lord Henry, Abbot of St. Edmund's, namely, that the said Abbot grants, on behalf of himself and his successors, that the said Bishop and his successors may hold in perpetuity his fee market in the Vill of Frankenham, with its appurtenances, provided that the said bishop grants on behalf of himself and his successors that the Bishops shall pay in each year to the Church of St. Edmund four tapers on the feast of the passion of St. Edmund, each taper to contain two pounds of wax. The same Bishop also grants on behalf of himself and his successors that the bailiff of the said Abbot and his successors may come to Frankenham every year if he so please in

* The two Roberts were fined, and also the Bishop; but the Bishop established his right to the land as dominus feodi.

† A punishment by fine, the amount of which is not fixed by law, but left to the discretion of the judges.

the fifteen days following the feast of St. Michael for the purpose of making verification of the Frank pledge on that day before the gate of the same Bishop in Frakenham, so that if by the fault of the bailiff himself the verification of Frank pledge be not made by him (?) the same bailiff shall not be able to make verification of that Frank pledge on another day, even in the fifteen following the feast of Saint Michael of the year past. And the same bailiff shall have all the pennies which are taken for entrance into the same Frank pledge at verification of the bailiff of the same Bishop and his successors, namely, for each person so entered, one penny. And on the same day the said bailiff of the Abbot shall there be received in the house of the Bishop himself and of his successors with one horse, and if he wish it shall be entertained and shall have board and lodging free of charge for one horse and one groom for one day and one night, and all other incomings and fines (taken at) verification of Frank pledge shall remain quit to the same Bishop and to his successors. The bailiff, however, of the said Abbot and his successors shall be free to make all attachments and imprisonments which belong to the Crown of our Lord the King within the said Manor in the presence of the bailiffs of the same Bishop and his successors if he should wish to come there, provided, nevertheless, that cattle (?) which remained in the said Manor without challenge shall remain to the said Bishop and his successors quit of the said Abbot and his successors for ever.
